

Instructions for Current CE/CME Participants Tri-Service Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear and Explosive (C.B.R.N.E.)

Emergency Medical Preparedness & Response Interactive Web-based Courseware

What is CBRNE? The C.B.R.N.E. course was produced by the Department of Medical Readiness Training Institute on the topics of chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear and explosive threats. The course was created to increase one's knowledge base regarding how to prepare and respond to terrorist challenges involving C.B.R.N.E. agents. The newest version was just released in Sept. 05.

Who is CBRNE for? There are four different CBRNE courses designed to meet the educational needs of executives, civilians, operators/responders and clinicians. Be sure to take the course that's right for your position. Only DoD personnel are eligible to receive CE/CME credit for the course.

All Air Force Personnel are to view C.B.R.N.E. on the Air Force Knowledge Exchange Website.
